Henry Houston, the Lexington negro burglar who was winged by Albert Wright about a week ago, also waived his right to examining trial and was held to Circuit Court in sum of $1,000, which he did not give.

Paris Enjoys Small Strike.

The Paris Gas Company has been laying a new main on Main street for several weeks and have had from 15 to 20 laborers at work, paying $1.25 per day. Yesterday morning they informed the foreman that they would not go to work for less than $1.50 per day.

The reason for this strike was that the grass seed strippers were starting out Monday morning and they were paying $1.50 for hands. While we are heartily in sympathy with laboring people, this was an unfair advantage taken of the Gas Company, for this seed business last only a few days and they had been giving the negroes good pay for their time for several weeks.

The negro is an ungrateful brute anyway you take him; has no reason or gratitude in him, and the people in Paris and Bourbon county should organize, as they have done at other places, and do without their help in any way.

A few of these men went to work, the company being forced to pay the $1.50.

Try It In Paris.

What a relief it would be to have all of the streets in Paris sprinkled with crude oil. This is being adopted by a great many cities and has been a comfort and blessing to the housekeepers, merchants and pedestrians. Duncan avenue has recently been made a beautiful street with the new machinery, but if you happen out that way on a windy day it would be well to have a corn knife handy to cut your way through the dust. Sprinkling the streets with oil has been tried in Lexington and Louisville and works admirably, not a particle of dust escaping when the oil is used. The oil is not expensive and not only lays the dust for a long period after its application, but also preserves the roadbed or streets, holding the rock together. The oil is sprinkled on the streets just as water is and one application will lay the dust for several weeks. It is also claimed that after several coatings of oil have been put on a street the dust cannot arise, and that when the streets are macadamized, they will become as hard as asphalt.

Paris vs. Lexington.

At Bacon's Park, on Sunday afternoon, the Paris and Lexington baseball teams played quite an interesting game of ball for six innings, but after that Lexington had things their own way. The work of Cooper and Dempsey, the Paris battery, for six innings kept the Lexington men from reaching second base. Brown and Downing, the Lexington battery, at this stage of the game began doing better work, and Cooper began to get weaker, and the score resulted in 13 to 6 in favor of the visitors.

Paris has a fairly good team at present and with a little work will play fast ball, this being the first game that some of the men have played with the team.

If the cheap guys that take advantage of the railroad track to witness the game would only give up their 25 cents and come inside the management of the Paris club would be able to give the public first-class ball. But the largest portion of the crowd take advantage of the free seats, and do more kicking than anybody else.

Some of the Paris players had the misfortune of having their Sunday go-to-meeting clothes stolen from the dressing room during the game, with money, keys, etc., that were in their pockets.

Will Put In New Front.

The Deposit Bank of Paris will make extensive improvements in its bank building, on the corner of Main and Fourth streets. The entire front will be removed and reconstructed and a handsome stone front erected. It will have a corner entrance, and the interior will be refurnished throughout with the very latest banking fixtures. A steel ceiling will be placed through the first floor.

The Price building, just opposite the Deposit Bank, will be used as temporary quarters for the bank while the changes are being made. Work will be commenced to-morrow.

Sudden Death.

The announcement upon the streets yesterday morning of the death of Miss Lizzie Lyle was a shock to the entire community. Miss Lyle had just returned from a visit to relatives in Danville, and her many friends here did not even know of her return home until her death was announced. She had been suffering since Saturday with something like colic, but was not considered in a dangerous condition, when her heart failed yesterday morning, causing sudden death.

The deceased was the daughter of the late Wm. C. Lyle, who was for so many years editor of the old Western Citizen, and a half sister to Mr. John A. Lyle, of near town. She was aged about 65 years, and a most estimable Christian woman, loved and admired by all of her acquaintances, and those who knew her loved her the most. She had been a life long member of the First Presbyterian Church, and will be missed from her church circle, being at all times deeply interested in every work connected with her church. It can be truly said that a good woman has been taken from our midst.

The funeral services will be held at the grave in Paris cemetery Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Dr. F. J. Check, of Louisville.

Circuit Court Proceedings.

Bourbon Circuit Court convened yesterday morning with Judge Jas. E. Cantrill on the bench, and Commonwealth's Attorney Robt. Franklin at his post of duty. The Judge announced that he would adjourn court this afternoon until August 15th, so to give everybody a chance to gather grass seed to attend with National Convention, the World's Fair, and any other old place they care to go. This knocks in the head several planned trips of members of the bar, who prefer adjourning until the court in course, but the Judge is the supreme arbiter and his word goes. He will also adjourn the grand jury until that time, telling them it will give them time to do a little missionary work in these parts. It is pretty tough on the boys to be kept in a sweat this long, but she goes just the same.

The following gentlemen compose the grand jury: W. H. Ingels, Foreman, John F. Clarke, L. D. Redmon, Wm. Becraft, G. W. Morrow, J. H. Letton, A. Smedley, I. N. Brown, Chas. Estis, Willis Boston, John Towles, W. W. Haley.

There are several criminal cases set for trial to-day.

Children's Day.

One of the most impressive and beautiful services ever held in Paris was at the Second Presbyterian church Sunday morning, the occasion being Children's Day. The singing and recitations of the little ones were highly enjoyed and appreciated by one of the largest audiences ever in the church. The church was beautifully decorated with cut flowers, and the choir seemed to be inspired by the bright little folks who did so well and sang as they never did before. Dr. Rutherford seemed in his happiest mood, as he always is when surrounded by little children.

The success of the services is due to the untiring efforts of the teachers of the Sunday School. It was indeed wonderful how well the little tots acted their parts.

UMBRELLAS.—$4.00 Taffeta and Serge Silk Umbrellas, for this week $2.50; all colors at W. Ed. Tucker's.

A Tip From Frankfort.

The Frankfort Journal says: "The Hon. Emmett Dickson, of Paris, it is said, will be appointed by Governor Beckham as Circuit Judge in this district, in the event a vacancy is created by the nomination of Judge Cantrill for the Appellate bench."

"Mr. Dickson is one of the oldest lawyers in Central Kentucky, and has long been prominent in politics both locally and in the State. He was a member of the lower House of the Legislature in the last session of 1891-93, and was a leading member of that body. He is at present Master Commissioner in Bourbon county by appointment of Judge Cantrill. Several names have been mentioned in connection with the prospective vacancy—Judge Bradley, of Georgetown, and Judge R. L. Stuart, of Versailles—but the tip for the appointment of Dickson is said to be straight and is generally accepted."

DEATHS.

—The funeral of Mr. John Herndon, of Scott county, on Sunday, June 5th, at Georgetown, was attended by his cousins, Mrs. William Massie and son, Wm. C. Massie, of Paris. Mr. Herndon was a man of singular magnetism and gentle loveliness of character and was universally popular. His five handsome nieces, Mrs. McBirney, of Indianapolis, Mrs. Walker, of Covington, Mrs. De Foe Wilson, of Dayton, O., Miss Eugenia Cooper, of Covington, and Miss Coenelia Barnes, daughters of his sisters, Mrs. Eugene Barnes and Mrs. Cooper, of Covington, grieved over his untimely death from heart disease as for a father, for such he had been to all of them.

The Elks and Masons, of which orders he was a member, aided the Episcopal minister at the interment ceremony.

The floral offerings and set pieces in floral work were unusually handsome. A rarely good and noble man has passed away.
